SPECIAL KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Gillian Tett
U.S. Managing Editor,
The Financial Times

Gillian Tett is an award-winning journalist and one of the world's preeminent authorities on capital markets and its role in the global credit crisis. She is widely credited with being the first to predict (in 2006) the looming credit crisis and has won three prestigious journalism awards for her coverage of capital markets including British Journalist of the Year, 2009 and British Business Journalist of the Year, 2008. Gillian is the author of Fool's Gold: The Inside Story of How Wall Street Created a Financial Catastrophe. As Japan Bureau Chief for The Financial Times during its "Lost Decade", she wrote Saving the Sun, an account of Japan's Financial Collapse in the 1990's. Gillian earned a Ph.D. from Cambridge University based on research in the former Soviet Union which included a year in Tajikistan. Gillian speaks French, Russian, Japanese and Persian.
